DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 19-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 19-20, these claims are vague because there is no antecedent basis for the limitation "the optically encoded signal" in the last line of these claims and it is not clear if this limitation refers to "the optically encoded input signal" or an "optically encoded wavelength multiplexed signal".

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 19-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Watanabe(6,853,774).

Claim 19, figures 11 and 12 and columns 14 and 15 disclose providing a phase-insensitive parametric actively mode-locked fiber ring laser(84) including a cavity(83), optical modulating(90) a gain in the optical path of the optical cavity of the mode-locked laser, applying a plurality of wavelength division multiplexed optically encoded input signals to the cavity(78), and outputting a plurality of optical pulse streams from the cavity(80), wherein the gain is modulated in response to the plurality of wavelength division multiplexed optically encoded signals by modulating the spatial pattern of light in the laser cavity thereby locking the spatial pattern of the output pulse stream to a timing wave of one of the optically encoded signals.

Claim 20, figures 11 and 12 and columns 14 and 15 disclose a phase-insensitive parametric actively mode-locked laser(84) including a cavity(83), an optically controlled optical modulator in the optical path of the optical cavity of the mode-locked laser(90), means(83) for applying an optically encoded input signal to the optically controlled optical modulator(90), and means(80) for outputting an optical pulse stream from the system where the optically controlled optical modulator in response to the optically encoded signal modulates the spatial pattern of light in the laser cavity thereby locking the spatial pattern of the output pulse stream to a timing wave of one of the optically encoded signals.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 1-18 are allowed.

6. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter.

The following limitations are primarily responsible for distinguishing these claims over the prior art.

Regarding claims 1-18, the limitations concerning each of the plurality of narrow wavelength bands being immediately adjacent to a wavelength of a corresponding optical signal and each of the plurality of narrow wavelength bands including a corresponding recovered optical clock wavelength, and a wavelength selector preventing the light from the multiple wavelength division multiplexed optical signals and a plurality of idler waves generated by four wave mixing between the multiple wavelength division multiplexed optical signals and recovered optical clocks from re-circulating in the laser cavity.
